

Our Carers

AHP Healthcare believe that without Carers, the business would not exist. Carers are often called the lifeblood of the business, and for that reason, we ensure they are valued, appreciated, well trained and well supported, both on and off the field.

We invest in a continuous development and learning environment, supporting staff to be the best they can, and only employ those that have the right attitude, are reliable and passionate, with a genuine focus on health and wellbeing.

We take pride in recruiting and training the right staff, so our Carers go through a rigorous process to ensure they are a perfect fit for our beliefs and ideals. This includes a face to face interview, reference checks, an enhanced DBS check, inhouse and online training.

Finally, Mum's the word! We wouldn't employ anyone whom we weren't confident of sending to our own mum.
